

NEED ACREAGE CUT DESPITE SMALL CROP

Farmers Will Be Asked To Reduce Area 20 Per Cent

By Roy F. Hendrickson.
Associated Press Staff Writer.
Washington, July 18.—(AP)—Farm administrators stepped ahead with their wheat acreage reduction program today with word from Secretary Wallace that this year's crop, the smallest since 1923, would fail to solve the problem of surplus and that production cuts were needed.

They announced that by August 1 they would have arrangements complete for the campaign to obtain acreage cuts from farmers to reduce their acreages up to 20 per cent during the next two years in return for cash payments, two-thirds of which would be made soon after farmers sign up.

Reduced Yields.
Administrators said the campaign had increased prospects of success because of the short crop. They asserted that the reduced yields in most growing areas had left numerous farmers who depend on growing wheat for their livelihood with such small harvest prospects that they would be unable to benefit from the recent swift price increases.

"One more year of an average continued wheat acreage would undo all the improvement in the wheat situation which has resulted from this year's short crop, and American wheat producers would be plunged once more into an era of disastrously low purchasing power for their crop," Wallace said.

"The 1932 wheat crop was unusually small. By feeding enormous quantities of this cheap wheat to livestock we were able to keep the surplus from increasing during the past season. The 1933 crop will be even smaller. We are now faced with the cheering prospect for the first time since 1926, of ending the year with smaller stocks on hand than when we entered it."

"Because our prices are far above our export level, exports will be small. A liberal estimate calls for 40,000,000 bushels for export shipment. On the basis of the most liberal estimates, total disappearance of stocks may be expressed in 1933-34 as leaving a carry-over of 200,000,000 bushels, July 1, 1934."

Such a level of stocks, Wallace said, would be satisfactory if there was any guarantee that it would not increase immediately. Without the wheat what he said "crawlers will certainly increase their wheat acreage sharply this fall and next spring" and that even with no increase in average yield next year would produce a normal crop of 850,000,000 bushels.

KINNEY'S MENTAL STATE CONFUSED
Springfield, Ill., July 18.—(AP)—Information that Dr. F. Kinney, former state finance director, who wounded himself last month, is still in a confused mental state was received today by state's attorney A. H. Greening from Dr. George W. Michell, superintendent of the Peoria sanitarium where Kinney is being treated.

The report said that Kinney's condition shows little change and that "his mental state remains one of confusion and shows no notable change since our last report."

A second 5 per cent increase in wages will be given the 400 workers at the Litchfield factory of the Brown Shoe company next Monday. A month ago they received a similar raise.

Convict's Term Expires But He Is Back Again

Joliet, Ill., July 18.—(AP)—Oscar Stoby's term was up today, but all it meant to him was a change in prisons—a change for the worse. He finished a 14 year term in the new penitentiary on a conviction for assault and attempt to rape. Then he was taken to the old penitentiary, several miles away, to serve 30 years for murder, of which he was convicted after entering prison on the first charge.

Stoby, 31 years old and from Shelby county, Illinois, would have preferred remaining in his cell in the new penitentiary, more modern and comfortable.

But he had to move because the law requires second offenders and habitual criminals to serve their sentences in the old prison.

SCHOOL BOARD CUTS EXPENSES FIVE MILLION
Chicago, July 18.—(AP)—"Goodbye schoolroom, goodbye books!" Goodbye teacher's cross-eyed looks. That ancient farewell to learning, shouted when pupils dash from classrooms to the playground, summer vacation joys ahead, is the theme song of the latest battle over Chicago's educational system.

The school board sang it today in announcing its intention of going ahead with a $5,000,000 retrenchment program adopted last week—a program calling for wholesale discharge of teachers, elimination of departments and restriction of curricula.

Ready for Battle.
It was the teachers, pupils and their parents as they began grumbling themselves for a battle to compel the board to rescind its action.

A week of sharp skirmishes, in court and outside, looked on.

Chicago's board's economy policies would throw back to the little red schoolhouse stage an elaborate educational structure that somehow frequently manages to develop aches and pains, parent and teacher groups began distributing tickets for a protest meeting Friday.

The school board's retrenchment plans for testing the legality of the board's move. The board invited them to "come ahead" and issued several statements explaining why they would stand by their guns.

It all began on July 12 when the school trustees met and unanimously swung the axe in the interests of economy. Their action meant a saving of about $5,000,000 would be effected in current school expenses.

It also provided, among other things: Discharge of nearly 1,400 teachers, mostly teachers; abolition of the junior high school system; no more purchase of musical instruments; no more purchase of textbooks, pending inventory, and discontinuance of bathrooms "except where deemed essential."

In short, President of the Board James B. McGeehan explained, elimination of "fads and frills."

Allan Carter, counsel for the Chicago principals' club, announced legal action against the trustees would probably be instituted tomorrow, but he declined to say what would be the course of action.

The board of education signed a statement declaring the action was taken as an alternative to closing the schools, whose credit was exhausted, or reducing teachers' salaries.

The teachers are owed approximately $22,000,000 in back pay.

GILBERT HAUGEN EX-CONGRESSMAN DIES IN IOWA
Northwood, Iowa, July 18.—(AP)—Gilbert N. Haugen, 74, former Congressman from Iowa, died at his home here tonight. He had been suffering from heart disease and complications brought on by an attack of influenza last winter.

When he left office March 4, the co-author of the McNary-Haugen bill and militant farm leader had completed 34 years continuous service in the House of Representatives, the longest record of any national Congressman.

Haugen won the republican nomination a year ago after a close race with former state Senator C. A. Benson of Elkader, but was defeated in the democratic landslide in November by Rep. Fred Bismuth of Decatur.

J. W. HARRIMAN HAS RETURNED TO HOSPITAL

Former Banker Claims He Fell Into North River

New York, July 18.—(AP)—Joseph W. Harriman, with war trinkets from his clothing, reappeared late today at the nursing home from which he had disappeared 30 hours earlier, and was committed promptly to the psychiatric ward of Bellevue hospital.

The 68-year-old indicted banker, object of a search throughout the east, hailed a taxicab shortly before 3:30 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time), telling the driver he had just climbed out of the north river.

"Drive me to 115 East 61st street (the nursing home) in a hurry," Harriman said, after he had given two other addresses.

"I have fallen into the river and must get to that address at once," His voluntary reappearance brought prompt service of a warrant for his arrest as a fugitive issued in the morning by Federal Judge Francis G. Caffery, who also had ordered his $25,000 bond forfeited.

Although Harriman's chief counsel, Gen. William Donovan, asked for a continuance of arraignment on the warrant, during the banker had been out of bed, he was taken at once to the federal building.

In the same courtroom where Judge Caffery has been hearing evidence as to Harriman's mental fitness to stand trial on a charge of falsifying his bank's records, Donovan and U. S. Attorney George Z. Medale agreed to a preliminary that the aged man be sent to Bellevue.

"I think it is not only in the interests of others concerned but in the interests of Mr. Harriman," said Donovan.

Harriman, former head of the Fifth avenue bank bearing his name, had changed his water-soaked clothing for a blue suit and white shirt. Mr. Harriman, who accompanied her husband, appeared in deep distress. Tears frequently welled in her eyes.

Louis Manzoni, the cab driver, told police Harriman, whom he did not recognize, hailed him on 71st street, near the North river and asked if his machine was engaged.

The man, Manzoni said, was "wet and sort of slimy looking," carrying his wet coat across an arm and with his hat missing.

"At first I thought he was a bum," he added. "I wasn't going to take him."

Meanwhile the banker had entered the cab and given instructions to be driven to an East 66th street address. Once there, he asked to go to 66th street. On the way, however, he ordered the driver to go back to the nursing home address.

LOCAL YOUTHS TO VISIT CENTURY OF PROGRESS SOON
Jacksonville Group to Leave Monday to Spend Five Days in Chicago

Five days in Chicago and the World's Fair will be spent by a number of Jacksonville boys who will leave next Monday night under the leadership of Secretary Herman of the Y. M. C. A. The boys will leave on the Jacksonville Bus Lines at 10:30 Monday night, reaching Chicago at 7 o'clock the next morning.

After spending the week in Chicago they will leave that city at 9 p. m. Saturday following, arriving home early the following morning.

The boys will stay in one of the Chicago Y. M. C. A.'s which are being made the headquarters of boys who come from all over the country. Great attention has been given to selecting the men who will act as the guides and leaders of the groups, and these men, most of them college men or teachers, have then been given special training to help them bring to the boys the most worthwhile experiences at the Fair.

The Century of Progress is offering most unusual opportunities in an educational and recreational way, as well as from the standpoint of recreation, it is pointed out.

In addition to the trips to the Fair Grounds there will be side trips to various other points of interest in Chicago such as the Art Museum, Stock Yards, the big stores, broad streets, parks, etc., as the group may desire. The recreational facilities of the Y. M. C. A., including the swimming pool, game rooms, etc., will be also given the boys who attended.

Percy M. Fitzgerald Held As Suspect In August Luer Kidnaping Is Identified

GILBERT N. HAUGEN

Dies
St. Louis, July 18.—(AP)—A charge of violation of the national execution act was filed tonight against Percy M. Fitzgerald, an ex-convict known as "The Dice-box Kid" after he was identified as one of the kidnapers of August Luer, aged Alton, Ill., banker.

Identification was made, police said, by the wife of the banker, who came here from Alton late today and viewed Fitzgerald at police headquarters.

Arrested in Madison.
Fitzgerald was arrested last night at Madison, Ill., across the Mississippi river, at the request of department of justice agents after Mrs. Luer had picked out his photograph from a group of pictures, and told them it resembled one of the two men, accompanied by a woman, who seized her husband a week ago Monday night at their home in Alton.

The 77-year-old banker, dirty and unkempt, was released early Sunday morning near Collinsville, Ill., and since has been resting at the home of a son, Herman Luer.

The complaint against Fitzgerald was filed by the federal agents, in charge of D. M. Ladd, with United States Commissioner Arthur R. Felsen in East St. Louis.

Meanwhile the federal operatives continued their search for other members of the kidnap gang.

The view of Fitzgerald by Mrs. Luer was shared with secrecy, and only were the federal agents non-committal, but members of the Luer family refused to say where the banker's wife had gone. Identification by Mrs. Luer was only made through the filing of charges against Fitzgerald.

A son, Herman Luer, with whom the aged banker and his wife have been staying since the former's release, told newspapermen earlier today his mother feared reprisals if she attempted to identify Fitzgerald and feared she might not make the trip here.

ITALIANS WILL TAKE OFF EARLY TODAY, CLAIM

Italo Balbo And His Men Ready For Trip Back Home

Chicago, July 18.—(AP)—The 24 sea-planes, with which General Italo Balbo and 86 companions flew from Italy to Chicago were tuned up tonight for the return trip—a flight which may be even more ambitious than was the east-west crossing of the Atlantic.

General Balbo announced that, weather permitted, the sea-planes will fly from Newfoundland to Ireland. Such a route would keep the planes over water for nearly 2,000 miles.

The longest over-water leg of the six-stop journey to Chicago was 1,500 miles, from Reykjavik, Iceland, to Cartwright, Labrador.

Planes Ready
Refueled and pronounced in perfect condition, the planes were in readiness for departure "as soon as possible after 8 a. m." (CDT) tomorrow for New York. Officials of American air lines helped map out a route which would keep the six and one-half ton flying boats over water as much as possible on the trip.

At New York the planes will be moored in Jamaica Bay off Floyd Bennett air field. They will remain there for three or four days, during which time Balbo and his 24 officers will fly by American planes to Washington for a visit with President Roosevelt.

During the Washington visit, Balbo and 10 of his officers will lunch with the President, while the others are entertained at other affairs. A dinner and reception also have been scheduled for them.

The fliers will leave New York for their homeland probably on Sunday. If the northern route is decided upon, there will be a trip to St. Louis, New Orleans, thence to San Francisco, Newfoundland, and from there across the Atlantic to Valencia, Irish free state.

Although wearied by an almost constant round of entertainments and receptions, the 97 air men had their spirits in perfect order for the return flight.

Members of the armada said they believed the trip to New York would be made in about seven hours. It was understood Balbo would not change any of the motors of the planes before the return flight, as necessary, because he wished to prove beyond any question the merits of the engine.

TWO ENGINEMEN ARE KILLED IN TERRIFIC BLAST
Engine Pulling Crack Flier on Burlington Route Explodes

Omaha, July 18.—(AP)—Charles E. Utter, engineer, and K. Z. Zimmerman, fireman, on the crack Burlington Route flier, the AK-San-Ben, were killed here tonight when the engine Uter was piloting blew up with terrific force just as the train was pulling into the combined union station and Burlington station here tonight.

Uter lives in Creston, Iowa, and Zimmerman in Lincoln, Neb. James McRae, a station red cap, was seriously injured and is not expected to live.

A covered areaway connects the two station buildings and Uter was just bringing the engine under it after the run from Lincoln when the explosion occurred. It's cause is still unknown.

The body of Zimmerman was picked up along the tracks about a hundred yards from the wrecked engine. The body of Uter lay alongside it.

The boiler of the engine, point of the blast, was blown about 25 feet. Witnesses said there was a "terrible flash" and a deafening roar when the boiler exploded.

The areaway was almost cut in two. A four year old child, walking through the tunnel connecting the stations, was reported seriously hurt.

The train was scheduled to have departed for Chicago a few minutes after the explosion occurred.

Judge Refuses To Order Closing Of Streets Of Paris

Chicago, July 18.—(AP)—A woman attorney's effort to close up the shows in the "Streets of Paris" at the World's Fair on complaint of lewdness was thrown out of court today by Judge Joseph B. David with the remark:

"Lots of people in this community would like to put pants on horses." Judge David declined to issue an injunction against the concession sideshows. If there was anything improper going on, the court said, the police could stop it.

The attorney said the petition would be re-filed in federal court, since the government has an exhibit at the fair.

COUZENS SWEEPS WAR DEBTS FROM PARLEY PROGRAM
Lay Groundwork For Regulation Of Copper

By Claude A. Jagger.
Associated Press Staff Writer.
London, July 18.—(AP)—The American delegation to the world economic conference today laid the groundwork for regulation of copper production, struggled to extricate its proposals for rehabilitating silver from a new deadlock and threw up a fresh barrier against possible injection of war debts issue.

Meanwhile the American wheat delegation, working in the margin of the parley, pushed their negotiations for wheat acreage restriction nearer to a successful conclusion.

Clamp on Brake.
The war debt safety brake was clamped on by Senator James Couzens of Michigan who succeeded in attaching to a resolution dealing with international debts a clause specifying that industrial and commercial debts were not included.

The debt proposals, presented jointly by Great Britain, France, Italy and Rumania, announced in substance that countries signatory agreed in principle that debts between nations should be paid, but that the problem should be dealt with in such a manner as not to impair credit.

The first definite step for continuing the work of the committee after the final plenary session July 27 was taken by the American delegation in offering a resolution urging countries which produce copper to submit their opinions before September 15 as to the desirability of holding an international copper conference.

The opinions are to be sent to the secretariat of the present conference. The steering committee, to which this suggestion was submitted, decided to leave the representatives as to the date of the conference.

The wheat negotiations were pushed through two meetings. After the first, between the representatives of the Big Four—the United States, Canada, Argentina and Australia—with the Danubian countries—Hungary, Yugoslavia, Rumania and Bulgaria—Henry Morgenthau, the American delegate, announced that an understanding had been reached in which the Danubian states would limit their wheat exports to 54,000,000 bushels this year and 50,000,000 bushels next year.

DAVE HUTTON MAY "BLOW LID" OFF ANGELUS TEMPLE
Husband of Evangelist is Getting Tired of Criticisms

Los Angeles, July 18.—(AP)—Angered by comment of Angelus Temple officials on his divorce suit against Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton, the evangelist's baritone husband, Dave Hutton, tonight threatened to start talking "and blow the lid off Angelus Temple unless the crowd goes their last."

Hutton was in an angry mood when reporters sought him out to ask if he had experienced a change of heart and intended to let his wife, now America-bound from Paris on the liner City of Havre, get the divorce after her arrival in California.

"I haven't had any change of attitude," the portly singer growled. "I haven't answered her radiogram that asked to give her my assurance of confidence in her. My divorce suit is the answer to that."

Hutton was particularly nettled over a remark attributed to Harriet Jordan, manager of Aimee's Angelus Temple, that he was "knifing a sick woman in the back" in bringing the divorce suit at this time.

"They had better thank heaven Aimee married some one like me, instead of some one who might blow the lid off Angelus Temple," roared the singer in his heaviest baritone.

"I can do that very thing if I want to. I started this divorce out like a gentleman. I kept faith, but if Harriet Jordan insists on talking, I'll do some talking myself, and she knows what I'll say."

As for the divorce itself, Hutton said it was "inevitable." While Hutton was asserting himself on the divorce, his statement of yesterday in which he said he was prepared to settle a $5,000 hearing fee, obtained by Myrtle St. Pierre, Pasadena nurse, was drawing fire from Miss Pierre herself, who said that Hutton's offer of $2,000 was unacceptable.

NEW INDUSTRIAL PROGRAM MAY BE DIVIDED, CLAIM

Hugh Johnson Outlines His Plan To Recovery Cabinet

By James Cope.
Associated Press Staff Writer.
Washington, July 18.—(AP)—A decision to split into several sections the plan for uniting industry into a general covenant to raise pay levels and lower working hours has been made by Hugh S. Johnson, the industrial administrator.

He outlined his plan to the general recovery cabinet today but said later that it had not yet received final approval.

The industrial administrator disclosed that instead of one plan to cover all industry, separate proposals were being made which would make allowance for different conditions in various lines of manufacturing and producing activities.

He added that he, himself, was not completely satisfied with it yet and that there were several difficulties remaining to be settled. Johnson has been describing as believing the campaign necessary if the buying power of the masses is to be put on high enough to absorb the already increased production of industry and to meet the rising prices.

Shortly before this program was taken up at the white house cabinet table Secretary Frances Perkins gave out an estimate that re-employment during the month of June had put more than half a million people back to work in industrial lines alone.

The figures showed a seven per cent employment gain above May, of last year, the biggest upward jump taken by the indices in more than a year.

Miss Perkins warned that the re-employment movement through the past three months did not promise that the depression was over and said a stable recovery basis still was needed.

The endeavor to bring all industry into a general wage raising, hour limiting program would take the form of an enthusiasm stirring campaign along the lines of those by which Liberty bonds were sold during the world war.

However, in the executive council and among some of Johnson's own advisers there was some opposition, based partially on doubts that a project depending upon public opinion and voluntary business cooperation would succeed.

Another group of opposition opinion rested on the belief that the recent fast pace of industries in coming forward with fair-competition codes, all calling for shortened work hours and better wages, would achieve the objective within a reasonable time.

Johnson's administrators, however, said that so far only a million workers or so had been given higher pay rates through the industrial control law.

In 1929 the gainfully employed population of the country was around 48,000,000. This included farmers, leaving perhaps 35,000,000 in industry and business workers of whom almost 12,000,000 were unemployed before the slight upward turn was reached this year.

Also all of the short hours and minimum wage laws so far decreed have been in manufacturing conditions in all industry to employ only half as many as the non-producing service industries, such as retail shops, wholesalers, distributors and business offices of all kinds. The mass drive was contemplated to get at the millions who come within these categories.

Johnson took to the white house an agreement from which he proposed to have all business hours fall out and sign. All such agreements were intended to be in effect temporarily, until the recovery administration could pass upon former codes, weighing employment conditions in all industry deciding to what extent each line should be called upon to reemploy idle men and women and how high it should raise its wages.

The ultimate decision on the question was solely in the hands of President Roosevelt, who was taking part in today's council meeting because of a cold. He handled business in his study, however, and the indisposition was not delaying action on major questions.

Already it had been decided that President Roosevelt would give a full statement of his recovery objective and policies a week from tonight in an address directed specifically to the governors' conference in San Francisco.

RECORDS OF LABOR UNION ARE SEIZED
Chicago, July 18.—(AP)—Detectives under orders from State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney today seized records in the offices of four alleged outlaw labor unions which are under grand jury investigation.

Courtney earlier had obtained subpoenas for the records from Chief Justice of the Criminal Court John Prystalski. Union officials had refused to permit state's examiners to view their books.

WILEY POST IS BEING DELAYED BY RAIN, FOG

Around World Flier Is 16 Hours Ahead Of Schedule

Irkutsk, Siberia, July 19.—(Wednesday)—Heavy rain and fog early today delayed a takeoff by Wiley Post, American aviator on an around-the-world flight, for his next stop, Khabarovsk, Siberia, 1,400 miles east of here.

The Oklahoman, who landed here at 3:35 p. m. Moscow time 7:35 a. m. Eastern Standard Time yesterday after a flight from Novosibirsk, Siberia, had intended to take off for Khabarovsk at 11 o'clock last night (3 p. m. Tuesday, Eastern Standard Time). The heavy weather prevented him doing so.

The time of his departure was indefinite.

When he descended at this city in south central Siberia, near the southern end of Lake Baikal, the Oklahoman flier was 16 hours and 34 minutes ahead of the record set by Harold Gatty and himself in 1931.

With his partner two years ago Post, reached Irkutsk from New York in 91 hours 50 minutes, but flying alone on his present attempt he covered the distance in 75 hours and 25 minutes.

Post hopped off from Novosibirsk for the 890 mile trek to Irkutsk at 9:02 a. m. today Moscow time, having rested but two hours and 35 minutes after completing a difficult journey of 1816 miles

A Trap That Worked

A New York city physician was threatened with kidnapping. Two men entered his office and threatened him with guns. They told him to have $10,000 ready by a certain time or he would be kidnapped and held for a large ransom, and perhaps murdered. Every day they called him by telephone reminding him of their threat. The physician is an honorary surgeon of the police department. He got busy and so did detectives. Constantly detectives were present in his office as patients. An officer served as his chauffeur. On the appointed day and at the spot where he was to deliver the money, detectives were on hand posing as janitors and grocery clerks. The physician delivered the rolls of money, worthless paper wrapped with real bills. He got into his car and obeyed instructions of the men who got the money to drive straight ahead. Then the fun started. The kidnappers' car was bombarded with bullets as it sped away, and a police car gave chase.

The extortioners were finally captured and their machine wrecked. Another man, the "brains" of the outfit, was arrested later. It was a well-planned piece of police work, and it was successful. All of the men in the plot had previous police records. This is an example of what can be done when victims and police work in harmony. Of course when officers are cajoled into staying out of the case, nothing can be done.

People Pleased

The people of Jacksonville who like this city because of the peace, quiet and safety of its residence districts were pleased with the stand taken by Mayor Wainwright and the city council in barring the sale of beer in residence sections. That means that areas not already zoned for business will not in future be zoned for this particular purpose. The average citizen can feel certain that a beer stand will not be opened in the next house or on the vacant lot adjoining his door yard.

There is a place for everything. Certain areas in the residence section are zoned for business and are known as local business districts. There is of course no bar against beer selling in these areas. The council feels that this business should be kept in business areas.

The dry vote in the city in the recent repeal election was considerable, perhaps about 3,000. Those who voted against the repeal did so with the feeling that the liquor traffic should be either suppressed or closely regulated. There are many who still have a moral repugnance for liquor, and want it sold in the immediate neighborhood of their homes.

The council has invoked the zoning ordinance to protect the rights of those who hold this view. Their number are much larger than the repeal vote would indicate, for there are many who feel that liquor has its place in the city, and that there is no place for beer selling in a residence section of our city.

SURPRISE DINNER HELD SUNDAY FOR
GEORGE PARLIER

A very pleasant day was spent Sunday at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. George Parlier west of Arcadia, the occasion being Mr. Parlier's birthday and a surprise had been planned for him. Having been called to Arcadia in the morning about one hundred relatives and neighbors had gathered in his absence with well filled baskets and a most bounteous dinner awaited him on his return.

Dinner being served cafeteria style on the lawn to him and his guests, the afternoon was spent socially. In the evening all departed, wishing him many more happy returns of the day. Those who enjoyed the occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Santa Monica, Calif., July 18.—Will Hayes was out to see me yesterday. Between working on a movie "code" and roping calves. (Bill doing fine on the calves) we had a hard day. If they could build up their marriage industry like their divorces what would be the matter with guaranteeing everybody a wife, or husband, after six weeks residence.

Much interested in Wiley Post trip from Kongsberg Germany to Moscow. Eight years ago I made it with a Russian pilot. He kept pulling the blinds down so I couldn't see anything. I didn't care I was asleep anyhow.

WATER CONSUMERS
OUTSIDE CITY TO PAY HIGHER RATE

The city council voted Tuesday night that all users of city water residing outside the city limits of Jacksonville must pay the additional ten per cent charge on their monthly bills now paid by water users in South Jacksonville. Mayor W. A. Wainwright told the council that the South Jacksonville citizens pay the additional charge to secure water service, and it is no more than fair that all consumers outside the city should do the same.

The mayor stated that there are 42 residents of the city's suburbs who are using city water. The water superintendent will now add the ten per cent to their monthly bills, in accordance with the ruling of the council.

It was brought out that there are several residents of West Jacksonville who use the city sewers. An agreement was reached sometime ago whereby these people pay the city a dollar per month to help maintain the city treatment plant. This is really a sewer service charge for people outside the city. The mayor stated that this fee will be collected regularly.

"Life" sermon subject in all science churches

"Life" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 16.

The Golden Text was, "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou has sent" (John 17:3).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent Me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; and is passed from death unto life" (John 5:24).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Let us feel the divine energy of Spirit, bringing us into newness of life and recognizing no mortal nor material power as able to destroy.... Life is, like Christ, 'the same yesterday, and today, and forever.'" (p. 249).

I learned about "Toasting"
from my husband

I used to think that "Toasting" was just an advertising phrase. But one day my husband explained to me what "Toasting" is—and what it does. Where he learned it all, I don't know, but I began to understand the difference in cigarettes. Now I find myself enjoying Luckies' mildness and fine taste with a new respect. But even more—since I am a woman quite sensitive to personal daintiness—and since my cigarette and my lips are so intimately related, I especially appreciate the comforting purity of "Toasting". Naturally, with me it's always "Luckies Please!"

DOUBLE TICKETS
INDICATE SECOND
TRAFFIC OFFENSE

Looking over the file of red traffic tags which is kept by the desk sergeant at the police station, one is startled to find there several double tickets clipped together. On inquiry one finds that each ticket in a pair stands for an offense against the traffic ordinance, and that these double tickets signify second offenders. There are twelve of these second offense records now in the sergeant's files.

The sergeant added something of interest to those dozen people who have been twice to the station, who have had their second warning to obey the traffic laws. Said the sergeant: "The next time they come down, they'll have to see the squire."

He pointed out that the rule is to treat all first offenders with courtesy, to give second offenders a more emphatic warning and to impose a stiff fine on anybody who is careless or willful enough to violate the regulations for a third time.

JUST A LITTLE FORESIGHT

Why not use a little foresight in dealing with the ragged, that abounds in the outskirts of Jacksonville, and thus prevent much suffering, impaired vision and hearing, and derived ailments for scores of persons?

It doesn't require much intelligence nor much time to become acquainted with the two species of this pernicious weed that grows here. Fifteen minutes with a cyto would accomplish the necessary cutting on most lots. But cut before the middle of August, when the pollen ripens.

If everyone had burned the little weed containing twice what have been on one's lawn for a month we should not have another cicada invasion. Alas, many have not done this.

NEW WASHINGTON

ASPHALT FLOOR

The work of laying the floors in the new Washington school building has been started. Ten tons of material have arrived for the floors, and the work of putting it down will be pushed rapidly. The building is expected to be ready for occupancy by the middle of August, at which time the installation of equipment will begin.

The floor in all corridors and classrooms will be asphalt. The material comes in blocks a foot square. Each block is cemented in place on the concrete floor base. The blocks are dark and light brown and are laid alternately. Black blocks are laid for borders of corridors and classrooms.

This is a noiseless floor and resembles battleship linoleum, though it has all the wearing qualities of asphalt. It can be easily cleaned and will hold its color.

OUTSIDE USERS OF CITY DUMP WORRY HEALTH CHAIRMAN

Alderman J. U. Day, chairman of the city council health committee, is worried over the use of the city dump ground by people living outside the city. He stated Monday night that he thought the suburban districts should have their own dumping grounds.

Violation of regulations at the dumping ground has led to the establishment of a more strict supervision by the city. A caretaker now has charge of the grounds, and no one can dump rubbish without his permission. He specifies where the load shall be dumped and prevents the dumping of material which will menace health and public safety.

The caretaker lives in a house near the grounds, which is owned by the city. He gets his rent and a small monthly wage for his services. This supervision was established because the privilege of dumping on the grounds was being abused. Often the driveway was blocked with rubbish, and occasionally materials which menace human health were deposited on the grounds.

Dr. Day also said that he is opposed to people keeping hogs inside the city. The council at a recent meeting voted that the city attorney should not prosecute alleged violators of the ordinance. Citizens have taken this to mean that if the keep hogs clean they can keep them in the city. Dr. Day feels that the city has let down the hog, or opened the gates to the hogs, as it were. Several citizens have started building pens which are stinking the health committee more or less angry.

The council passed the motion to let the city attorney prosecute violators of the ordinance by those who have been keeping their hogs in town for some time. It was brought out at one council meeting that when the city passed the ordinance ten years ago, several who were keeping hogs in the city were told that they would not be bothered.

BARGAIN BRIDIE

by KATHARINE HAVILAND-TAYLOR

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ELINOR STAFFORD, 20, falls in love with 35-year-old BARRITT COLVIN, who has returned to New York after years abroad. Barritt has made a name for himself as an archeologist. He is about to ask Elinor to marry him when her jealous, scheming mother, LIDA STAFFORD, intervenes and succeeds in breaking up the romance.

When Elinor's aunt, wealthy MISS ELLA SEXTON, dies she leaves her entire fortune to Barritt. Then drunken VANCE CARTER shoots BENTWELL STAFFORD, Elinor's father. Barritt, who does not want the Sexton fortune, tells Elinor that if she will marry him and live in his home as a guest for a year he will give the entire sum to her to divide among the relatives.

The marriage takes place next day. Barritt finds himself falling in love with Elinor over again. Then one day he sees her with BOB TELFAIR and believes she has been meeting Telfair secretly. His suspicions are renewed and he treats her coldly. This makes Elinor miserable.

Her father's health is slow to improve and the doctor advises a warmer climate. Elinor goes with her father to Aiken.

CHAPTER XXXII

ELINOR wrote Barritt stilted little notes about the weather, her father's condition, and the routine of the household. He read them. He could not help it. He carried them in an inner coat pocket and scorned himself for keeping them. He tried to burn them one night in the library fireplace. Instead he burned the hand that salvaged them.

Toward the end of April Barritt saw Lida Stafford for the first time since her daughter had gone south. Lida appeared on a Sunday morning, wearing a dress so simple a man would call it plain, though to a woman it bore the unmistakable stamp of Paris.

"My dear Barritt!" she murmured, gliding into the library. "I have taken the liberty of looking up your father's health. He is not so well as you thought. I have written him a letter. I hope it will do some good."

Stiffly he took her outstretched hands. He heard her ask, "Lone-l?" and responded heavily, "Very."

"You must dine with me some night, Barritt. I would so like to know you better!"

He murmured vaguely about having to get a great deal of work out of the way. He detested the woman!

Lida settled by the hearth. She stretched a slender foot toward the fender. Her ankles were still quite as good as Elinor's, she saw happily.

"I came in because I have found myself to be in the most amazing position," she began.

"Yes?" he prompted without enthusiasm.

"Overdrawn again! Can you fancy it, Barritt? I simply know nothing of figures! And I can't seem to learn!"

"I knew if Elinor were in town that she'd help me out—for a little time—and this morning I thought, 'But what is more natural than to turn to my Elinor's husband? The man whom she so adores!'"

HE opened his cigar case, offered her one and lit one for himself after lighting hers.

"Mrs. Stafford," he said slowly after a moment's silence, "the last time Elinor lent you money—which you have not returned to her—I told her I did not like it. She promised me she would not do it again. You see, therefore, that, while I am sorry to refuse you, I cannot help you out—"

Lida grew white, her eyes hard. She laughed harshly.

Without heeding the interruption, Barritt went on. "Elinor settled on you and your husband a large fortune, more than I wanted her to settle upon you—"

"I quite believe that!" Lida broke in scathingly.

"If you can't manage on that you couldn't manage on any amount," Barritt said, still coolly. "What a delightful creature!"

"You'll have to pull up or be very miserable," he stated. "Easy spending is a habit, you know—"

She rose. With a slow, almost insolent gesture she pulled her fur close around her soft, white throat.

"I shall not forget," she said, "that I came to you for help and that you refused me!"

"I'm sorry you feel as you do, Mrs. Stafford. Can't you see that when I asked Elinor to refuse you aid I pledged myself to do the same thing?"

"Elinor would not have to know."

"I do not lie, Mrs. Stafford—"

Her face hardened. She caught the implication he had not meant to make with his statement.

SHE left the house shaking with rage. There was Miss Ella Sexton's house across the street. Miss Ella had been influenced by Barritt's scheming and persuaded not to leave her money as it should have been left as it should have been there would be no need of approaching Elinor or her husband for loans. The shoe would be on the other foot! As things were there were few chances to even up with Barritt Colvin. Unless he had on the side some little affair! Lida could hurt him that way, extract from him what she wished with the pledge of silence.

Who was it who had said that he was always running up to Connecticut? Why did he go there? Had she hit upon it—the fact that would level his pride and open his purse?

It cost a great deal, Lida knew, to have anyone "shadowed" but the original cost might prove to be one of her best investments.

She moistened her tinted lips.

If she could find her proud and lofty son-in-law in a compromising situation how she would put on the screws! And someone had said he drove to Connecticut often.

Monday found Lida abroad early. She usually woke about 10 o'clock to bathe and return to bed for her breakfast. After that she would dawdle over letters, the newspapers or perhaps a sensational novel. Then came the fine art of dressing which always took an hour and often more. As the clock struck one she usually sauntered forth to meet some one for luncheon or to hunt up diversion for the day.

This Monday morning found her up at eight and dressed by nine. In her car a half hour later she ordered Grier to an address on a side street.

The chauffeur, waiting before this address, smiled the cynical smile that came often on his honest Irish lips. His eyes were on the gilt lettering that appeared on a plate glass window. Women like Lida Stafford went to detective agencies for just one reason—to get out secrets to use for blackmail or a divorce.

GRIER wondered about Mrs. Stafford's errand as he waited in the new car she had bought the day after her daughter's marriage. "She can't be havin' that husband of hers shadowed," he mused.

"He can't get gay, tied like he is to his bed and a wheel chair!" Grier gave up the riddle. Meanwhile inside Lida had explained her errand. The sleek individual who sat back of the desk had listened to her tale and written Barritt Colvin's name and New York address on a pad. Now he said, "We'll do all that is possible and we'll keep you informed, Mrs. Stafford. If the facts are what you think they

Order Power Company To Cut Electricity Rates In Jacksonville

Chicago, July 18.—(AP)—Rate reductions for electricity, which will save downstate consumers an estimated three quarters of a million dollars a year, were ordered by the Illinois Commerce Commission today.

The Illinois Power & Light Company was ordered to reduce its rates ten per cent and the Central Illinois Light Company was directed to make a 15 per cent reduction, effective August 15.

This was the biggest slash in rates made by the commission downstate since it announced its rate leveling campaign.
